This programme has been designed and is delivered by qualified HR professionals with a combined experience of over 30 years in the field and over 20 specialising in education. They are a HR Director of a local Multi Academy Trust (MAT) who is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Personnel and Development (CIPD) with a Masters Degree in HR Management and a HR Officer-Employee Relations from the same MAT also CIPD qualified and prior to working in education has a wealth of experience of HR in the construction and health care industries.

How will my School benefit?

Delegates will be able to focus on specific areas and develop competencies in their teams that will have the greatest impact on improving staff wellbeing and the benefits this will bring.

These benefits are likely to include; higher staff retention, lower absence levels, improving motivation, health, productivity and performance, while reducing costs, for example those associated with recruitment, cover and sickness.

How will my students benefit?

Evidence demonstrates that improved staff wellbeing leads to improved student outcomes. As well as responding to more engaged teaching and non-teaching staff, they will benefit from a more consistent, stable, routine learning environment.

What previous Delegates have said...

"I came away enthused and confident in applying techniques and strategies, in particular to address a current PM issue with a colleague." "Excellent examples in the work place"

".... extremely informative."

".....obviously a wealth of knowledge presented very clearly."
