

How to monitor the quality of education and the curriculum

This course guides boards on what they should be considering when monitoring the curriculum, explaining what Ofsted look for, and the data and monitoring approaches boards should consider when gathering evidence of the quality of education in their school/trust. This is ideal training for anyone on your standards or curriculum committee.

What you will learn:

- what is the curriculum?
- What are current curriculum requirements?
- The boards curriculum responsibilities
- Understanding the quality of education
- How to monitor the quality of education
- How to use data wisely

All delegates receive an electronic copy of the presentation and supporting materials and resources to help them to be more impactful when monitoring the quality of education.

Who should attend?

Governors and trustees who want to explore how to approach monitoring the quality of education and the curriculum. Suitable for governors and trustees of all education phases.
